Berry homestead and hotel at Grandview, located fourteen miles west of the El Tovar hotel at the Grand Canyon. The Berry hotel was one of the first hotel sites at the Grand Canyon and used to be the end of the stake line from Flagstaff to Grand Canyon in the old days before the railroad was built in from Williams.

"The trail from that point down into the canyon was the old original Hance trail. This is still a well established claim on the rim owned by the Page people, or whoever purchased the last Chance mine midway down in the Grand Canyon and it is understood that a deal is on and practically consummated between the present owners and Mr. Hance. The purchase price of the Berry place is given in the deed as $25,000.

"This purchase by the multi-millionaire who has visited this section repeatedly in the past few years, gives rise to many conjectures as to the purchase of this Berry homestead.

"This section of the Canyon is undoubtedly the most wonderful of all. The intersection of the Little Colorado river with the main river in the great gorge, the Painted Desert lying off to the east, with an open gateway to the wonderland lying off to the northeast in the Indian country where the Great Natural Bridge, Canyon De Chelly and other scenes which few white people have ever visited, naturally convince the casual observer that the project is more than one of securing a home on the brink of the Canyon.

"From Flagstaff north and east is the one feasible route for a railroad, electric line or even a reliable auto line that would provide the thousands of tourists that are now coming to this section, with a most perfect outlet to the real pleasure and sight-seeing grounds of America.

"Flagstaff and this practically unknown wonderland have needed some one with unlimited means to make it the most sought land in the whole west, and with William Randolph Hearst securing this special advantageous point between the main line, the Grand Canyon and the wonders beyond it, it would seem that a realization of pioneer hopes had come at last.

"Aside from the wonders of this country, which many a tourist has come all the way from Europe to see, there are possibilities of water power that would supply all of Arizona with power as well as parts of Colorado and Utah. Whether this is a part of the idea or not it is impossible to tell, but it is safe to say that Flagstaff can not help being benefited by the project now in the minds of the purchaser of the only site available on the rim of the Grand Canyon and the only one which the government of the United States has granted patents for.

Waiting doesn't pay. If you neglect kidney backache, urinary troubles often follow. Doan's Kidney Pills are for kidney backache and for other kidney ills. Albuquerque citizens endorse them. Mrs. E. Fournelle, 461 South Broadway, Albuquerque, N. M., says: "I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to many of my friends and acquaintances and they have learned of their value. Like myself, they all think highly of them. Some years ago I used three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and was cured of pain in my back that had troubled me for many years. I was also relieved of rheumatic pains and I have never been bothered to any extent since. I hold just as high an opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills now as I did when I first publicly recommended them some years ago. I haven't needed any kidney medicine since. I am certainly grateful for the cure Doan's Kidney Pills made."

ORGANIZATION OF NEW RAILROAD UNDER WAY

Herbert Green, promoter of the Gulf New Mexico and Pacific railroad, incorporated in New Mexico last week, leaves tonight for Chicago. He expects to be in New Mexico again within a few weeks.

"We are going right ahead with the organization of the company, and the perfection of a working organization," said Mr. Green this afternoon. "The road is going to be built, our work having advanced to a point where it can not be stopped, and while I had expected a more ready response to our request for cooperation here than has been apparent up to this time, I understand the conditions existing here and am in no wise discouraged."

PROPOSES RAILROAD Y. M. C. A. HOME FOR THIS CITY

Railroad Secretary of International Association Here to Discuss Preliminary Steps;
Meeting This Morning.

Some twenty-five business and professional men gathered in the Commercial club this morning for a conference with J. J. McKim of Saint Louis, general secretary of the Railroad Young Men's Christian association in the United States, with a view to taking preliminary steps for the organization of a branch of the Y. M. C. A. here.

The location of a branch of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. has been discussed in Albuquerque for several years past and at various times steps have been taken looking toward organization, but the present movement is the first one which has taken business-like form. It resulted indirectly from an informal petition presented to the Santa Fe railroad by Dr. James H. Wroth and others interested in the movement, asking cooperation by the Santa Fe in establishing the association here and the building of a home, preferably on railroad property. This action brought the matter to the attention of the national organization and Mr. McKim has been in Albuquerque for several days making a quiet investigation of conditions.

This morning he told the Albuquerque men that in his opinion a serious effort would result in obtaining the co-operation of the railway company in the construction of a suitable building; that sentiment among local railroad employees was strongly in favor of the project, and that the international association, in the event that investigation warranted the effort, would send a man here for an indefinite stay, in order to conduct the work.

The whole subject was discussed in a general way, it being the feeling that should the railroad be willing to co-operate to the extent of furnishing a site, light, heat and the salary of a secretary, as has been done at other stations along the system, Albuquerque could afford to invest $40,000 in a building and its equipment.

Mr. McKim was careful to impress on his hearers that the work should not be undertaken lightly and that no false hopes should be held out as been given to many similar organizations. He thought the whole situation should be carefully investigated first and to that end suggested a temporary organization of home men.

Attorney George S. Klock was elected chairman of the meeting and Rev. J. J. Schaefer of the Lutheran church secretary. The general discussion following was participated in by a number of men, and the sentiment seemed to be that the organization could be effected and made successful. The result was the unanimous passage of a resolution favoring the organization of a Railroad Y. M. C. A. in Albuquerque to be a co-operative organization between the city and the railroad; and the chairman was authorized to appoint a committee of seven to carry on the preliminary work. This committee is empowered first to take the matter up with the railroad company, to present a petition from business and social interests in Albuquerque and in a general way to ascertain the sentiment of the community and all other interests toward the project.

was pointed out that outside aid had been given to many similar organizations throughout the country and that aid might be expected reasonably for the association in this instance.

Mr. Klock reserved the naming of the committee to a later date, it being the sense of the meeting that all lines of business be represented on it.

and that a committee be chosen which will give time and energy to the work. Mr. McKim, who has been looking into the work at Las Vegas and elsewhere in the southwest, will be in Albuquerque for a day or two, or until the work of the local committee is under way.

Among those present at the meeting this morning were President G. A. Kaseman of the Commercial club, J. B. Herndon, President Boyd of the University, John Milne, superintendent of city schools, T. J. Bryant, Thomas Espar, John W. Wilson, C. O. Beckman, D. A. Porterfield, C. T. French, C. H. Conner, Pitt Ross, H. A. Cooper, S. E. Allison.
